Currently I'm at the part of setting up application for the custom Iso that will include the media-based applications.

I've been using Cubic to create the custom Iso + some applications.

The applications that I'll import into the Iso are in this tecmin website. There will be application for audio editing like Audacity. However, on the case of creating an Iso will be too complicated, I have prepared on the side for simply a custom Desktop OS.
